About capacity building: the rationale

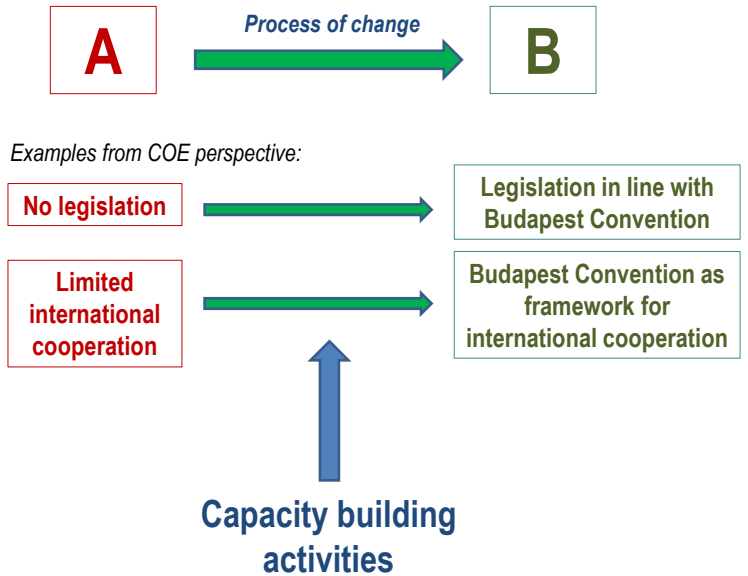

2

About capacity building: the rationale

“Capacity building” = enabling criminal justice authorities to meet the challenge of cybercrime and electronic evidence.

This entails strengthening the knowledge and skills and enhancing the performance of criminal justice organisations including their cooperation with other stakeholders.

It should be aimed at protecting individuals and society against crime and at protecting the rights of individuals, at promoting security, confidence and trust in ICT, at strengthening human rights, democracy and the rule of law in cyberspace and at contributing to human development.
